cardiovascular diseases and type II diabetes in adulthood, helps women lose the extra weight gain during pregnancy, reduce risk of women getting cancer, keeps babies healthy, is environment friendly and saves money.

In Nepal about 800000 babies are born every year out of which only about 280000 babies are breastfeed within one hour and about 400000 are exclusively breastfeed the babies for six months. That mean about 2/3rd the babies are not getting breastfeed within one hour of birth and about 1/2 are not exclusively breastfeed for first six months.

This One Million Campaign: Support Women to Breastfeed is initiative to bring together people from across the globe to demand support to women for breastfeeding from decision makers in public and private sector. This will mobilize people for national and international action to create a push to support women.

Let us join hand to support women to breastfeed by generating action at the individual level in every home, in every community, in every institution, in every nation in a social chain. Let us generate public demand for supporting women to breastfeed successfully and create the environment for genuine political will to save babies and this save humankind.

The petition can be accessed at the campaign website: www.onemillioncampaign.org

The campaign is being actively supported by IBFAN partner organization – World Alliance for Breastfeeding Action (WABA) and its core partners.
